Discovering Potential in Your Purpose

Professional development is all about recognizing the truths of self-discovery. Join us as Thom Winninger shares how to identify the true value of your work and life. This value is based on a pattern of discovering your unique personal attribute. This unique personal attribute, when applying it to the opportunities that come your way, brings you to your purpose and passion. It's not about your career; but what you bring to your career, that makes a difference.

This presentation provides an opportunity to:

- Discover your unique gift, talents, purpose, and passion!
- Find fulfillment, meaning, and energy!
- Overcome the feeling of being stalled!
- Come to understand what is unique about you!

It is time to get past the roadblocks to discovering and applying your true purpose!

Thom has delivered over 3000 presentations worldwide (including twice for MSCA). He was inducted into the Speaker Hall of Fame, received the highest service award by the 3800 members of the National Speakers Association and has authored seven best-selling books.
